The Department of Computer Science and Applications at The Oxford College of Science organized a one-day workshop titled “Mastering Research: Article Writing, Interpreting Research Findings, Thesis Crafting, and Ethical Publishing” on 1st September 2025. Aimed at faculty members as well as MCA and BCA Final Year students, the workshop focused on developing essential academic research skills. It covered the complete research cycle, including writing research articles, interpreting data, thesis preparation, and understanding ethical practices in publishing. The sessions were led by Dr. Kamatchi, Dean of Research and Development and Head of the Department of Biotechnology, who provided expert guidance and valuable practical insights. The workshop was highly interactive and well-received by all participants, significantly contributing to the enhancement of research capabilities and fostering a culture of academic excellence within the department.
